

PRESS RELEASE APRIL, 2017

NSHBA WELCOMES NAHB CHAIRMAN, GRANGER MACDONALD

The chairman of NAHB, Granger MacDonald met with the Executive Committee over lunch on March 22nd, 2017. Numerous items were discussed and the meeting was followed by a special luncheon in Granger's honor. Lt. Governor Mike Foley attended the luncheon and presented Granger with an Honorary Admiralship in the Nebraska Navy. In talking with Granger, it was discovered that he had played football for Texas and played in the Husker Stadium in 1992. Unfortunately Texas lost the game. Go Huskers.

Granger MacDonald is a Texas-based builder and developer with 40 years of experience in the home building industry. He has developed more than 35 neighborhoods throughout Texas. Granger's company provides affordable housing for communities in need in the state's rural and small metro areas. Granger and his wife Kathy live in the Texas Hill Country. They have a son, T. Justin MacDonald.

Following our meetings, Jim Scheer, Speaker of the Legislature arranged a private tour of the Capitol with Bob Ripley, the curator of the Capitol. Our thanks to Don Wisnieski for making this tour a part of our day. The information surrounding our Capitol is fascinating. Many improvements are being made for the 150th Year Celebration taking place in September of this year.

Granger was able to attend the cocktail reception of our Annual Legislative Dinner and meet many of our members and 20 of our State Senators. Our thanks to him for rearranging his schedule to come to Lincoln and meet with the Executive Board and our members.
